Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1,3-5, 8, 12 and 21-22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Tobin et al.

Claims 1 and 21 find full response here, see Figs. 1 and 9 where a basin 1 with plural openings 16-18 employs an in-line heater 30. The claims 3-4 impeller is seen at 31 at the intake 31. Re: claims 5 and 22, see paragraph 60. Re: claim 8, see nozzles 18.

Claim 12 merely calls for "water" which certainly is employed here.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 2 and 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Tobin et al as applied supra.

Re: claim 2, the degree of temperature of the water would have constituted an obvious expedient to the ordinary artisan. Re: to provide for duplicate systems would have constituted an obvious extension of the Tobin et al teachings, to the ordinary.

Claim 6 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Tobin et al, as applied supra in view of Bonner.

See the abstract, where an adjustable air inlet is taught. It would have been obvious to the ordinary to employ such an expedient in the Tobin et al environment as same is taught in an identical art device.

Claim 7 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Tobin et al, as applied supra in view of Shiina et al.

See col. 3, lines 54+, where an adjustable impeller speed is taught. It would have been obvious to the ordinary to employ such an expedient in the Tobin et al environment as same is taught in an identical art device.

Claim 9 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Tobin et al, as applied supra in view of Corb et al.

See the ball and socket at 56 where an adjustable jet is taught. It would have been obvious to the ordinary to employ such an expedient in the Tobin et al environment as same is taught in an identical art device.

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claim 10 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention. No disclosure is set forth as to how this claimed substance is accomplished.

Claims 13-20 stand withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected inventions, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Election was made without traverse in the reply filed on 4/14/06.
